

GUARD SURE THEY'LL BE GIVEN ARMORY

General Harvey and Other Officers Elated Over House's Action.

NO OBJECTION IN SENATE

Upper Body Already Has Twice Authorized $800,000 Home for District.

Gen. William E. Harvey and other officers of the District militia today expressed confidence that an $800,000 armory for the local citizen-soldier organizations is practically assured, the House having approved the appropriation, and no objection being anticipated in the Senate.

The armory bill, carrying the same appropriation, has twice passed the Senate. It is therefore believed by General Harvey and others that the measure approved by the House will find plain sailing there, and that the $800,000 will be made available for the construction of the building.

To Be On Mail.

The armory will be built on the north side of the Mall. The bill as passed provided that a commission composed of Assistant Secretary of War Ingraham, General Harvey, Col. W. W. Harts, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, and Elliott Wood, superintendent of the Capitol, arrange for the plans and construction of the armory. The bill also provides that the Commission of Fine Arts be consulted by the commission with regard to the construction.

The commission has been in existence since 1908, and already has plans in hand and many of the other details have been arranged. It is believed the actual construction of the armory will begin shortly after the appropriation becomes available.

Ideal Building.

The armory will be designed with a view of making it an ideal building of its character, and a standard for the national guard all over the country.

Although there was no objection whatever to including the $800,000 armory item in the public building bill, Congressman Dyer of Missouri, formerly a District national guardman, made a statement to the House in which he emphasized the necessity for the building in Washington. The national guard of the District of Columbia now has no armory whatever," he said. "The building provided for in this bill is absolutely necessary."

Ramshackle Buildings.

"At present the national guard is using a number of ramshackle, unfit, and unsafe buildings, for which an annual rental of $16,000 is paid. These buildings contain thousands of dollars worth of Government property. There is constant danger of fire in the buildings."

"Besides that, the buildings are not in suitable locations. The localities are not such as they should be for boys and young men to go to for their drilling and other military training."

"In addition to providing an ideal place for military training, it is proposed to furnish a place for amusement, both mental and physical, for the national guardmen, so that the citizen-soldiers of the District may be raised to its highest possible efficiency and set a standard which the entire nation will follow."

HITS WILSON ON SUFFRAGE

Is Party's Leader Only When He Wants to Be, Says Miss Martin.

"President Wilson is a leader of his party only when he wants to be," declared Miss Anne Martin, chairman of the national legislative committee of the Congressional Union, and leader of the national suffrage lobby here, at a meeting at the union headquarters.

"The President is very inconsistent," she continued. "When measures in which he is actively interested, are up for consideration in Congress, the President is the leader of his party, but when woman suffrage arises, the President is merely a 'follower'."

Miss Martin continued: "On January 9, the President told a deputation of the Congressional Union that the national suffrage amendment could be secured only by party action, and that he, the leader of his party, must follow, not lead his party. Ten days later he demanded at the Capitol, as leader of his party, certain important measures to be brought up before March 4, including among other things the Porto Rican bill granting suffrage to the men of that country."

PROTEST TRAINING BILL.

Resolutions protesting against the Chamberlain bill for universal military training were presented to the Senate Military Affairs Committee yesterday by John A. McSperran, of Furness, & Co., on behalf of the legislative committee of the National Grange.

G. W. U. ARTILLERY LEADS

Company, By Winning Prizes, Becomes Crack Outfit of D. C. Guard.

By winning the National Defense Trophy and the Figure of Merit Trophy the George Washington University Coast Artillery Company has become the crack outfit of the District Guard.

The company also has the distinction of having more especially trained officers than any other local organization. The record of the company in qualifying men for officers is said to be one of the best in the country. All officers in coast artillery companies must, according to a ruling of the War Department, pass an examination covering certain grades of the company. The record of the company took the examination and all passed it with exceptionally high marks. This was made possible by the constant system of review in vogue, it was stated.

Plans to open the membership of the company to men of the District who are not university students are being completed, in order that a battalion may be formed.

63,484 BOSTONIANS HIT SAWDUST TRAIL

Billy Sunday Ends Revival, Preaching to 1,327,500. Gets $50,828 Check.

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The Rev. William A. (Billy) Sunday closed his ten weeks' revival here by preaching to 70,000 persons in four services at the $50,000 tabernacle erected for his campaign. With a check for $50,828.64, representing free will offerings made by his audiences through the mail, the last week or in the collection pans at the final day's services, he left for Lawrenceville, N. J., to visit a grandson at school. Pledges not yet paid in are expected to bring this free will offering up to $55,000. After a few days' rest at his home in Winona Lake, Ind., he will open a revival in Buffalo next Sunday.

Boston's cash gift to the evangelist brings the total of free will offerings that he has received since conducting revivals up to approximately $800,000. Boston's free will offering is clear profit for the evangelist. All expenses of the revival, including house rent and living expenses of Sunday and his party, have been paid out of collections taken in the tabernacle. Collections for expenses here totaled $90,448.78.

Breaks All Revival Records.

The local revival has broken all records in the history of religious revivals as well as in the career of the baseball evangelist except for the free will offering. Philadelphia gave him $31,133.83.

He preached here to 1,327,500 persons at services in the tabernacle, and his audiences at outside meetings such as at Dartmouth, gatherings at the homes of society leaders, and trips to nearby cities, totaled 10,000 more. At the tabernacle 63,484 replied to the evangelist's appeal to "hit the sawdust trail," leading from their seats to the platform, where they shook Billy's hand as a pledge to lead Christian lives and left names and addresses. Yesterday there were 5,197, many in tears.

Records Sent to Churches.

Records of trail hitters were sent to the churches, for which the converts expressed a preference, for follow up work after the evangelists should have departed. The trail hitters included hundreds of Roman Catholics, Hebrews, and Christian Scientists and cards were accepted by all these denominations.

CHURCH TO SEEK FUND OF $50,000

St. Paul's Congregation Opens Fifty-Day Campaign for Funds.

"Home rule" will prevail in the campaign for $50,000 in fifty days inaugurated today by members of St. Paul's Catholic Church. The 220 special solicitors named to canvass for the fund will operate only within territorial limits of St. Paul's, the hope being that the parishioners themselves will be able to raise the full amount desired in the period of fifty days.

The fund is for the purpose of completing the construction of the church building, at Fifteenth and V streets northwest. The towers are unfinished, chimneys or bells are needed, two side altars are necessary to complete the sanctuary portion of the church, and the choir loft is minus a pipe organ. The interior of the edifice also needs frescoing.

Will Press Campaign.

The parish intends to prosecute the campaign persistently for fifty days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, in the hope of raising the full amount. The work of completing the improvement of the church will be started immediately after the first $10,000 is procured.

The desire of the parishioners is that the completed structure may be turned over to the pastor, Mr. James F. Mackin, on the occasion of his golden jubilee as a priest in June, 1918. The receipts bills for the work are to be presented to the reverend priest.

Meetings Held Last Night.

If a thorough canvass of the people living within the territorial limits of St. Paul's fails to raise the full amount of $50,000, the solicitation of others outside the parish will be started. It is the desire of the priests of the church and the executive committee that the parishioners first be given an opportunity of contributing the full amount.

The 220 solicitors and others interested in the campaign met in the parish hall last night and completed all arrangements for the beginning of the canvass today. Much of the solicitation by the men will have to be done at night, but the women canvassers will visit prospective donors in the day time.

Enthusiastic speeches of encouragement were given last night by the Rev. James E. Krug, representing the clergy, and P. J. Hattigan in behalf of the men of the church, and Miss Margaret Buckley representing the women of the church. Mr. Mackin also spoke briefly, expressing gratification at the co-operation shown by his parishioners.
